

RESPONSIBLE INVESTMENT & SUSTAINABILITY RISK POLICY

Responsible Investing is a key pillar of Milltrust's corporate strategy. We are convinced that companies with sustainable business practices have a competitive advantage and are more successful in the long-term. We believe that integrating environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors results in better-informed investment decisions. Actively exercising our stewardship responsibilities is an integral part of Milltrust's Sustainable Investing approach. This Sustainable Risk Policy outlines the processes and guidelines we follow when putting these responsibilities into practice.

As a multi-boutique manager, we ensure all of our Investment Teams adhere to our Sustainability Risk Policy by incorporating sustainability and ESG factors into their investment process in order to generate deeper insights and help deliver "sustainable", long-term returns.

This approach emphasizes a full assessment of management quality, operational excellence and firm values, and results in "quality growth" focused portfolios that monetise long-term investment themes via transparent companies, with effective management who are aligned with all stakeholders.

Milltrust has chosen to use several independent and broadly accepted codes of conduct, statements and best practices to help define their approach to Sustainable Investing. These include:

| International Corporate Governance Network (ICGN) statement on Global |
|---|
| Governance Principles |
| United Nations Global Compact (UNGC) |
| United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) |
| United Nations Guiding Principles (UNGP) on Business and Human Rights |
| OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises |
| Responsible Business Conduct for Institutional Investors (OECD) |
| United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights |
| International Labor Organization's (ILO) labor standards |

We give shape to this philosophy via a set of guidelines and policies, including, but not limited to:

- ☐ ESG Integration
- ☐ Exclusion Policy
- ☐ Engagement Policy
- □ Proxy Voting Policy
- □ ESG Policy

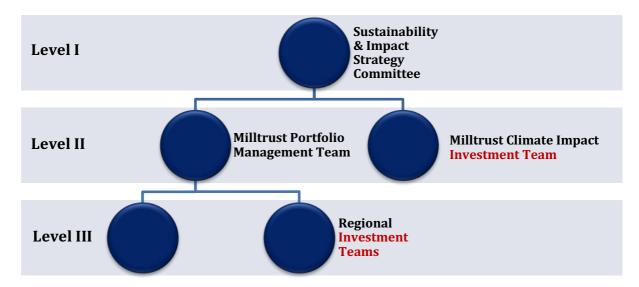

This document starts with a section on the Governance & Oversight of Sustainable Investing at Milltrust, followed by the policies listed above.

Governance and Oversight on Sustainability

Milltrust's investment approach ensures there are multiple layers of governance and oversight when

It comes to Sustainable Investing.

The following parties will be responsible for the implementation and ongoing monitoring of the ESG & Sustainability Risk Policy at Milltrust:

Level I. Sustainability & Impact Strategy Committee (SISC)

The responsibility for sustainable investing at Milltrust is allocated to some of the most senior people within the Milltrust team. The members include individuals from all aspects of the organisation including from each of our core investment solutions. This allows Milltrust to coordinate sustainability matters from a company-wide perspective. The SISC has the authority to approve policies and set practical guidelines for the implementation of Milltrust's sustainable investing strategy. The ESG Committee main responsibilities are to:

| | ☐ Sustainability is a driver of structural change in countries, companies and |

Companies with sustainable business practices are more successful

☐ Active ownership contributes to both positive investment results and society

At inception, Milltrust sets out the objectives, the investment strategy, ESG policy and, where applicable, the risk limits of each investment strategy. Material sustainability risks related to the investment strategies are integrated in these processes for the selection and monitoring of investments.

Milltrust applies the legal definition of sustainability risk included in the EU Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR):

Sustainability Risk means an environmental, social or governance event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or a potential material negative impact on the value of the investment.

Milltrust and its Investment Teams are therefore expected to identify relevant Sustainability factors and risks across the investment portfolios and subsequently determine which of them are material in the short, medium and long term with regard to its investment strategies. These risks are further defined in the ESG Policy in the next section.

Key Sustainability Factors

| Environmental | Social | Governance |
|------------------------------------|---|--|
| Environmental impact of operations | Compliance with recognised labour standards | Risk & business continuity management |
| Environmental waste & pollution | Compliance with employment safety and health protection | Integrity and ethical behaviour |
| Climate change vulnerability | Fair working conditions, diversity, and training and development opportunities | Information security and data protection |
| Carbon pricing | Product safety and consumer welfare | Board composition and renumeration |
| | Infectious diseases | Regulatory and tax compliance |

Political instability

The Investment Teams are primarily responsible for conducting investment due diligence on their strategies on a daily basis. The Teams perform their own primary research by having meetings with company management, reading through company disclosures and industry reports, amongst a number of other analyses. The assessment of the performance and risk exposure in terms of E, S and G is done at the individual investment level at both (1) the point of security selection and (2) during the monitoring of investments. This process is identified by the European Banking Authority (EBA) as the Exposure Method.

Other important inputs for analyzing companies' corporate sustainability also include external sustainability resources, like Sustainalytics, MSCI ESG ratings, S&P ESG scores, and the ESG Tools offered by Bloomberg and Refinitiv. This is reviewed by the Milltrust Investment Team and by Milltrust's Sustainability & Impact Strategy Committee (SISC).

The table below shows how the responsibilities are shared between the Investment Teams in identifying and managing Sustainability Risks in the Milltrust strategies.

Exclusion Policy

Milltrust actively advocates sustainable investing. Carrying out stewardship responsibilities is an integral part of Milltrust's sustainability investing approach. As such, Milltrust wants to avoid making any investments which we or our clients deem unsuitable.

Milltrust believes that some products and business practices are detrimental to society and incompatible with sustainable investment strategies. Therefore, certain exclusion criteria are applied.

As part of their exclusion, Milltrust will not invest in the following businesses or activities:

- □ production of or trade in any product or activity deemed illegal under applicable local or national laws or regulations, or banned by global conventions and agreements, such as certain:
 - o hazardous chemicals, pesticides and wastes;
 - o ozone depleting substances; and
 - o endangered or protected wildlife or wildlife products;
- □ production of or trade in arms, i.e. weapons, munitions or nuclear products, primarily designed or primarily designated for military purposes; or
- □ Production of, use of or trade in unbonded asbestos fibres.

For funds with an enhanced sustainability profile, either "Sustainability Focused" or "Impact Investing" strategies, stricter exclusions apply. This is the case for the Milltrust Climate Asia Impact Fund.

Aside from the exclusions listed above, Milltrust and the investment teams managing assets for the Milltrust clients will only directly exclude companies whose products or behaviours cannot be changed through active ownership techniques such as engagement or proxy voting. In all other circumstances, Milltrust prefers to exert influence as an active shareholder through voting and engaging with firms, rather than excluding firms directly.

Milltrust acts in accordance with the International Labor Organization (ILO) standards, United Nations Guiding Principles (UNGPs), United Nations Global Compact (UNGC) Principles and the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, and is guided by these international treaties to assess the behaviour of companies.

Engagement Policy

Milltrust believes that engagement with investee companies on financially material sustainability issues will have a positive impact on investment results and on society.

Engagement is a proactive approach focusing on long-term, financially material ESG risks and sustainability challenges that can affect companies' valuation and ability to create value. The primary objective is to create value for investors by improving sustainability conduct and corporate governance.

Milltrust has chosen to use several independent and broadly accepted codes of conduct, statements and best practices to help define their approach to engagement.

What we expect from investee companies:

Both the management and board of listed companies are accountable for the company's long term strategy and management of ESG issues. Milltrust believes that companies that have strong sustainability and governance policies in place are more likely to act in the best interest of all their stakeholders, and are better positioned to deal with a variety of issues, such as non-financial risks and changing regulation. Subsequently these companies are also better prepared to address long term trends such as climate change. On such issues we believe that a constructive dialogue can enhance accountability between stakeholders and improve the risk/ return profile of investee companies.

We also understand that individual companies and industries differ in their business practices and how they deal with different problems. Therefore, we focus on the most material issues a company must address, meaning our engagement focus will differ between various investment exposures.

We expect the investee companies:

Conflicts of Interest:

Milltrust is aware that potential or actual conflicts of interests may arise as part of the Investment Team's shareholder engagement activities. Consequently, the Investment Teams have policies in place for the purpose of taking all reasonable steps to prevent conflicts of interests. Where such conflicts cannot be avoided, the Investment Teams will identify, manage and monitor the conflicts and, where appropriate, disclose them to Milltrust to prevent them from adversely affect the interests of the investments.

Proxy Voting Policy

Milltrust encourages good governance and sustainable corporate practices, which contribute to long-term shareholder value creation. Proxy voting is an important tool for the Investment Teams to use their voting rights with the aim to influence company's corporate governance and other relevant investment related decisions in the best interest of the Milltrust clients.

Voting is performed using the platform of a major proxy voting research firm. The responsibility for deciding how to vote on ballot items lies with the Investment Teams.

The Investment Teams vote against management recommendations in case of poor corporate governance practices, when proposals are not in the best interest of long term shareholders and on any other proposal that is out of line with our core principles.

Voting at companies shareholder meetings is conducted based on the internationally accepted International Corporate Governance Network (ICGN) Global Governance Principles and local governance codes. These Principles are listed below:

Principle 1: Board role and responsibilities

The board should promote the long-term best interests of the company by acting on an informed basis with good faith, care and loyalty, for the benefit of shareholders, while having regard to relevant stakeholders.

Principle 2: Leadership and independence

Board leadership requires clarity and balance in board and executive roles and an integrity of independent process to protect the interests of shareholders and relevant stakeholders in promoting the long-term success of the company.

Principle 3: Composition and appointment

The board should comprise a sufficient mix of directors with relevant knowledge, independence, competence, industry experience and diversity of perspectives to generate effective challenge, discussion and objective decision-making in alignment with the company's purpose, long-term strategy and relevant stakeholders.

Principle 4: Corporate culture

The board should instil and demonstrate a culture of high standards of business ethics and integrity aligned with the company's purpose and values at board level and throughout the workforce.

Principle 5: Remuneration

Remuneration should be designed to equitably and effectively align the interests of the CEO, executive officers and workforce with a company's strategy and purpose to help ensure long-term sustainable value preservation and creation. Aggregate remuneration should be appropriately balanced with the payment of dividends to shareholders and retention of capital for future investment and the level of quantum should be defendable relative to social considerations relating to inequality.

Principle 6: Risk oversight

The board should proactively oversee the assessment and disclosure of the company's key risks and approve the approach to risk management and internal controls regularly or with any significant business change and satisfy itself that the approach is functioning effectively.

Principle 7: Corporate reporting

Boards should oversee timely and reliable company disclosures for shareholders and relevant stakeholders relating to the company's financial position, approach to sustainability, performance, business model, strategy, and long-term prospects.

Principle 8: Internal and external audit

The board should establish rigorous, independent and effective internal and external audit procedures, to ensure the quality and integrity of corporate reporting.

Principle 9: Shareholder rights

Rights of all shareholders should be equal and must be protected. Fundamental to this protection is ensuring that a shareholder's voting rights are directly linked to its economic stake, and that minority shareholders have voting rights on key decisions or transactions which affect their interest in the company.

Principle 10: Shareholder meetings

Boards should ensure that meetings with shareholders are efficiently, democratically and securely facilitated to enable constructive interactivity and accountability for the company's long-term strategy, performance, and approach to sustainable value creation upon which voting decisions may be influenced.

Product: Milltrust Global Emerging Markets Fund

The Milltrust Global Emerging Markets Fund is a fundamental research-driven long-only equity strategy which benefits from three levels of governance and oversight due to the multi-manager (fund of funds) construction of the strategy.

Our approach emphasizes a full assessment of management quality, operational excellence and firm values, and results in "quality growth" focused portfolios that monetise long-term investment themes via transparent companies, with effective management who are aligned with all stakeholders.

Manager Selection:

As a multi-manager, we set minimum standards for our fund managers (Regional Investment Teams) during selection so they can meet our expectations for responsible investment. We expect our Investment Teams to incorporate sustainability and ESG factors into their investment process in order to generate deeper insights and help deliver "sustainable", long-term returns.

Our selection process encompasses a review of the manager's business, investment management and operations and assesses the key risks relating to each of these areas. This process often entails multiple on-site visits and external checks and validation. It is our firm belief that ESG integration and a Responsible Investing approach leads to better-informed investment decisions and better risk-adjusted returns throughout an economic cycle, therefore we expect the external investment managers to have adopted this into their process. We review the investment teams idea generation process, their company review process as well as their track record on proxy voting. We review how they engage with companies by reviewing their meeting notes and research reports. We review how they incorporate ESG factors into their process and how those factors are monitored during the life of the investment. We also seek to understand what level of transparency they receive from the companies they are invested in and how close their relationships are with the management teams. Access and penetration are essential to gain important levels of transparency and conviction before investing. We never invest with external managers who are not based in the region that they invest in. They must be specialists.

Manager Appointment:

When we appoint external managers to our Platform, we integrate our ESG Policies within the mandate so the adherence to responsible investing is hard-coded in the legal documents. If not already, we also require that the external managers become signatories to the UN PRI.

Manager Monitoring:

As we have full transparency on the underlying investments from the external manager, we monitor the ESG characteristics of the companies in the portfolio by cross-checking against independent ESG providers (MSCI, Sustainalytics and S&P Global), where applicable, and where not available, Milltrust will discuss the companies with the investment teams as well as read through press reports and other expert commentary. We continuously monitor Investment Teams to verify they are conducting engagement activity. Our control enables us to remove mandates if Investment Teams do not meet our expectations. We remain in contact with our Investment Managers to discuss activity to align engagement activities and share best practice. We share our processes and activity, so our clients are comfortable with investment decisions. We also set expectations for fund managers when exercising voting rights.
